Bicentennial receives $70,000 CIF funding

The St. Paul/Smoky Lake area will receive $70,000 under the Community Initiatives Fund (CIF) option of the Community Futures Program to assist the Town of Elk Point Fort George/Buckingham House Bicentennial Committee in building the communities capacity for economic development, diversification and expansion.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Don Mazankowski, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Finance, on behalf of Employment and Immigration Minister Bernard Valcourt.

The project will provide a base and theme structure for community image and for mobilization of local and area businesses and other community interests. This will help to establish a local and regional tourism industry and to develop and exploit direct and spin-off economic opportunities. Up to 18 jobs are expected to be created.

Community Futures is geared to helping workers in communities which have serious economic problems but show potential for growth.

The St. Paul/Smoky Lake area was selected for Community Futures support in October, 1988. The St. Paul/Smoky Lake Community Futures Committee, chaired by Randy Brodziak assesses community needs and may recommend one or more program options under Community Futures to support small business development and to help workers start businesses, learn new skills or relocate to seek jobs.

Randy Brodziak said, "This project is central to the diversification and tourism development strategy for the region."

Billie Milholland, project director said, "Receiving this federal funding means that we will be able to use a unique anniversary to explore opportunities for economic expansion. For a small area like ours this is significant. It enables us to take the time needed to plan events with a focus on finding ones suitable to become annual events, giving a reason for visitors to return every year."

Bicentennial Funding Approval Received

Bicentennial Coordinator Billie Milholland accepts a copy of the CIF Contract which received ministerial approval last week, from Lawrence Romarchuk of Canada Employment Centre, while Jean Champagne of St. Paul - Smoky Lake Community Futures adds his congratulations. The CIF funding will allow the 1992 Fort George - Buckingham House Bicentennial to stimulate economic development in the area to its fullest potential.

Shanna Baker wins district 4-H

Shanna Baker of the Elk Point Saddle Slickers was named High Point Grand Champion of the St. Paul and District 4-H Horse Show on July 7 in Elk Point, after winning first place in seven classes and third place in one class to take the Junior High Point title. Watch next week's issue for full coverage of the show.

Council on summer schedule

Elk Point Town Council held their shortest meeting of the year last Monday, July 8, completing their entire agenda, even with additions, in just over 90 minutes.

Applications for two positions, caretaker at Fort George Manor and Buckingham House, and Community Services Director, are now being sought, with closing dates of July 19 for both.

Elk Point's bylaw enforcement officer has accepted a decrease in hours to 20 hours per month, and is willing to add to this if the need arises.

Councillor Louis Verhagen, who represented Council on the Canada Day Committee, gave a verbal report on that event, which went well overall, despite more than $1000 less in donations than the previous year to put toward the costs of hosting the gigantic celebration. A "substantially larger than last year" crowd enjoyed the afternoon performance, and stayed on to watch the tug-of-war, which this year featured a Town of Elk Point team. Mayor Kleeberger congratulated the committee on "a very good show-the whole day was well received."

The Mural Park Committee met last week, and planned the finishing touches which must be completed to comply with the requirements of their grant funding. While the landscaping is virtually complete, there is still fencing to be installed along the 50th Avenue side and the ground level lighting for the

Parks Day at Whitney

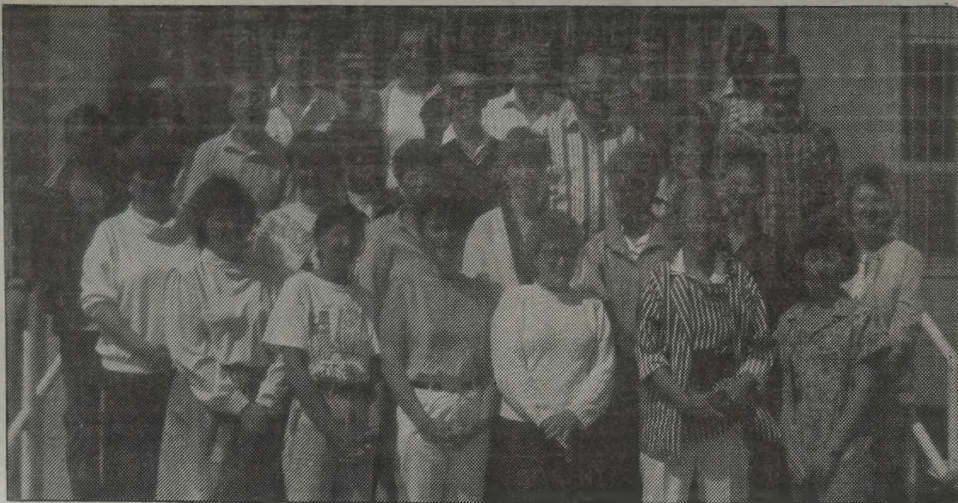

An afternoon of activities at Whitney Lakes Provincial Park has been planned for Sunday, July 21 in honor of Parks Day, with both the park staff and the County of St. Paul FCSS in charge of planning the event.

Festivities will take place at the Ross Lake Group Day Area, beginning at 1:00 p.m., and will include children's games, organized by the County of St. Paul FCSS, a sand sculpture contest, interpretive walk, canoe safety demonstration and an 'adopt a tree' program, hosted by the park staff. Prizes for the occasion have been donated by Double J Gas and Groceries, Mike's Trading Post, Strawberry Golf Course and Valley Gas & Go.

The organizers feel strongly that "Parks are for people" and want to make this event "a real down home country style picnic," so be sure to come out to Ross Lake and get in on the fun!

For more information, or to volunteer your assistance with events, please call Judy at the Whitney Lakes Parks office, 943-3761, or Linette at County FCSS, 645-1950.

Class of '71 -- Twenty Years Later

F. G. Miller High School's Class of '71, along with their classmates through the years, gathered to tour their old stomping grounds on July 6. Front row, left to right: Amy Ann (Nelson) Bullock, Sylvia (Shankowski) McDaniel, Marlene (Wutzke) Hodinsky, Sharon (Ruzyski) Smith, Alexa (Petrosky), Helen (Skolarchuk); Second row: Sheila (Nelson) Parks, Norlin (Rinas), Linda (Dacyk) Kurek, Carol (Zarowny) Hendel, Joanne (Zarowny) Bodnar, Lavinia (Kapjack) Yaceyko, Joanne (Zazulak) Neumeier, Isobel (Dumont) Myshaniuk; Third row: Don Kadutski, Roger Labine, Peter Wirsta, Henry Uniat, Metro Zap-socki, Ron Piotrowski; Back row: Brian Grosseth, Robert Oakes, Randy Ockerman, Doug Lindquist, Ray Danyluk. They were later joined by Dennis Holthe, Sherry (Wolbaum) Begert and Sharon (Shewchuk).

Reunion '91 - FGM Class of '71

Twenty years ago, they trod the hallowed halls of F. G. Miller High in bell bottomed pants and miniskirts, long hair swinging and chains adorned with peace symbols jingling. They did homework with The Partridge Family and Kung Fu on the television, or while the Bay City Rollers played on their 8-tracks, as they waited for the weekend to bring them Saturday Night Fever, Star Wars and Jaws, and the year to end with the pomp and circumstance of Grad '71. Two decades later, they returned from as far away as Geneva, Switzerland, where Alexa Petrosky is a diplomat's wife, and Vancouver, B. C., where Robert Oakes enjoys life, to greet old friends and share a day filled with nostalgia and new discoveries about their former classmates. Along with the Class of '71, there were those who had shared earlier years of their 1959-71 school days. In all, close to thirty former students and seven of their teachers, some dating back to the early elementary years, attended the reunion. Myrna Fox, who had taught the group in Grade 2, brought along her school register for that year, to the delight of her former students.

Participants, many accompanied by spouses and children, gathered at the High School on Saturday morning, July 7, and pored over yearbooks in the library before embarking on a tour of the enlarged facility, followed by a stop for coffee and muffins. Later, the action moved to Stoney Lake Hall, where everyone enjoyed a wiener and kobasa roast, races, ball games and other activities. The day ended with a supper catered by Rose Ahern and a dance.

Sharon Smith, who along with Ray Danyluk, Don Kadutski, Isobel Myshaniuk, Lorraine Stybel, Linda Kurek and Brian Grosseth, was on the organizing committee for the reunion, noted that "a lot of families came, with children from just over a year old to teenagers. It was wonderful."

"It was like you hadn't been away from each other," she added. "We all enjoyed renewing a lot of acquaintances."

Teachers, '59 to '71

Saddle Slickers hold Achievement Day

Ruth Purdy

The Elk Point Saddle Slickers held their annual 4-H Light Horse Achievement Day on Friday, July 5th at the Elk Point Agricultural Fair Grounds. Judge for the day was Tom Mirreault of Bon Accord. Ring Master was Debbie Poulin. Nine members from the Saddle Slickers club competed in the various events which included Judging, Showmanship, Grooming, Western Pleasure, Western Equitation, Horsemanship, Reining, Trail, Barrel Racing and Pole Bending plus a Relay Race. Members were encouraged to participate in all classes for which they were eligible. Following is a brief description outlining the requirements for each specific class plus the results of the 4-H Achievement Day Competition.

Judging - Members are required to evaluate 3 horses on their conformation and suitability to ride. They are given a scorecard and must write down their reasons for choosing 1st, 2nd and 3rd horses. They do not necessarily have to agree with the judge to get a good score but they have to present logical reasons and write them down as the 4-H manual sets out.

Showmanship - This class emphasizes the members ability of safe ground handling procedures and the willingness of the horse to be obedient.

Grooming - This class emphasizes the cleanliness of the horse and overall groomed appearance. The horse should be bathed, bridle path and fetlocks clipped and hooves trimmed.

Western Pleasure - This class is judged on the ability of the horse to move in a quiet and relaxed manner at the walk, jog and lope. They must be obedient to the riders' cues and pick up the correct lead.

Western Equitation - In this class the riders are judged on their ability to ride in the proper position, recognize the leads and be able to control their horse at all times.

Horsemanship - This class was designed to show the members ability in controlling their horse while riding a specific pattern. Horse and Rider are judged together. This pattern could include any riding basic the rider has learned.

Reining - This class is made up of specific reining patterns as found in the CEF Rulebook. It emphasizes circles, roll backs, stops, and changes of leads. The requirements of this class are slightly different than the horsemanship class.

Trail - This class is judged on the horse and rider's ability to negotiate several trail obstacles calmly and quietly. Some obstacles are: the gate, walk-over a bridge, side-pass, back-thru barrels or L shaped poles, jog over poles, drag a rope, or pick-up a slicker, etc.

Barrel Racing - This is a timed event wherein the horse must complete a cloverleaf pattern around 3 barrels.

Pole Bending - This involves another timed event wherein the horse must negotiate a course consisting of six poles. Rapid lead changes through successive poles and speed is a necessity.

A very special thanks is extended to Glenn Harms who served as announced, to Charlene Baker who organized the Achievement Day, and to all the parents who assisted with the smooth running of the show and the lunch preparations. Without your assistance, this should would not have been possible.

Adult dancers win Pysanka silver

Diane Wolanuk

They are not the Seniors, but instead the Adult Dancers of the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club. These particular ladies have been together for the past three years, and obviously had it ALL together on Sunday, July 7, 1991 at Vegreville Pysanka Festival, where after competing with seven other groups, they brought home silver medals.

Adult dancing in this form is picking up momentum both on the stage and statistics-wise. Like any sport or hobby, it is for both participants and spectators to enjoy, appreciate and have fun, and let others know what Elk Point is all about!

This group is extending a warm welcome to interested adults of both sexes to come and join in the good times. There were many male dancers in Vegreville. Everyone should be aware that you do not have to be a super athlete that can do leaps and jumps, (that is for the youths). Here, both adult males and adult females have an equal opportunity at a regular level to accomplish a goal. Regular classes of one-half hour once a week begin again in September. For more information, contact one of the dancers.

Silver Medal Winners

Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club is proud of their adult dancers, who brought home silver medals from the Vegreville Pysanka Festival. Congratulations to this energetic and talented group of ladies!

mural is yet to be installed.

Work on the installation of water and gas lines to the recreational land was halted when it was discovered that a permit from the County was needed. This was being requested, and work will resume as soon as this is obtained. The Town's rubber-tired backhoe is being used to do a large amount of backfilling, to minimize damage to oiled road surfaces by caterpillar tracks.

Dust control, by means of incorporating oil into the road surface, was underway on 50 Ave. and Railway Ave., Council was told.

Council agreed to support the Agricultural Society in their hosting of the afternoon performance of the RCMP Musical Ride to the tune of $750, with the notation that they hope that school children both in and outside the County will be included in the free admission.

The Agricultural Society will only need a development permit for their renovation and addition to the A. G. Ross Arena. As was done for the addition to the Elks Hall in 1984, the Town has waived the building permit fee on the project.

The landfill agreement with the County of St. Paul was discussed, and Council noted that the Town clearly has the responsibility for maintenance of the site, to comply with licensing requirements.

Leader of the Opposition Ray Martin will be in town September 17 on his Mainstreet Alberta Tour, Council was told.

In Our View

These uncooperative skies

Here we are, the middle of July already, and in lots of ways it feels like summer has just begun. Too many hours the blue skies we expect of summer have been the gray and weepy skies, foretelling rain or threats of rain.

July 11 marked the end of the "Strawberry" moon's cycle, and the commencement of the "Buck" moon, which will be full on July 26. The diminishing Strawberry moon was not content to disappear quietly into the endless blue, but had to feature a rendezvous with the sun, the first total eclipse of the sun we've had in some years.

Not particularly visible to us here in central west Canada, it was visible in all its blanked-out glory to folks in Hawaii and the Baja Peninsula, that long lower limb of California. This eclipse was forecasted to be 'total,' meaning that the sun would be blotted out (like a lid over a kettle) for from four to seven minutes. Of course, the sliding on and the sliding off of the moon 'lid' takes much longer.

No doubt many of us saw it on our television screens, but for the real astronomy buffs, nothing takes the place of on-the-spot viewing, complete with telescopic multipliers of all sorts. Not until 2050 is a similar spectacle of the heavenly bodies predicted to occur. A lot of us won't be around for that one - so I hope you all enjoyed the event while you had the chance.

Personally, I don't feel too kindly toward the way the moon acts, in midsummer. Whenever it is full, it slinks low toward the horizon, skulking deep behind the lush-leaved trees, where it's hard to see, and often missed. How much kinder if it were to swing high, when full, and skulk when waning, as it does in the wintertime? Surely, we need its silver light on a long winter night, but then, mostly, it's too cold to go out moon-gazing for any length of time in midwinter, while in June or July, we could stand around admiring the moon lighted view with only the discomfort of swatting mosquitoes. No cooperation, I say.

Another disappointment from the skies was trying to view the predicted clustering of the planets-with-new-moon, back in mid-June. The clouds were uncooperative, and insisted on lurking about where they weren't wanted, then when they finally cleared for a short while, the third planet was not to be found. Perhaps it was hanging around behind or before another planet? And then the dark came down so late in late June - who could linger so long to watch the clustering? But I will take the astronomers' word for it - h they really did gather so close (I guess) but not in a blaze of glory, and not for my eyes to see.

Today, as I write, the blue of the heavens is limitless, sparkling, and full of promise of a lovely, warm July day. I am moved to celebrate this day.

What shall I do to mark it? (After I leave my cluttered little writing space, and after I finish the last hour or two of grass mowing?)

It seems a day made for a lake, somewhere, with a bit of a boat and a long brown beach, with flat stones to skip in the blue ripples. There should be trees behind, with moss and tiny flowers, gnarled bare roots twisting up, squirrel mounds of dismantled pine cones, and overhead, wheeling, crying gulls.

And if the lake is too far away, too much of a dream of other years - at least there should be a swing under the trees, where one can fly softly up into the blue, leaving the earth below for seconds at a time, and the motion of flight makes your heart sing - if only for a moment?

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

I guess a walk out onto a lake-shore pier, with a fishing rod in hand, could bring a semblance of 'walking on water,' especially if it were a floating pier and the waves bounced it a little. Barefoot, on a wet, sandy beach could bring back memories, or sandwiches shared as we sat (in memory) on a bank, our feet trailing over, and the blue, blue sky reflected in the water below, ripples out beyond, where the breeze catches, pelicans clustered along the island's rocky point.

These would be wise and reasonable ways to celebrate the midst of July, on a sun-filled, blue-arched, green-arborescent day, with a whisper soft breeze rustling the aspens, the distant rumble of machinery making hay wafted in now and then.

All these, and more, should be shared - are shared - for many years, and then we are not able to share any more. The skies of July need company.

This month, the 14th, marks my brother's 75th birthday. I rejoice that he is well, and enjoying life. This is also the birthday month of one of my dear uncles, Bert Hobden, who was born July 19, 1898. He, too, is well, and enjoys life. Weddings celebrated this month in my family include Andy and Caroline, 1977, Buck and Doreen, 1956, Norman and Molly, 1944 (or '45?), and Virginia and Eric, 1950. Other birthdates include: Austin and Uncle Harold, 12th, Ruth Megan, 13th, Sean, 20th, Adam and Mel, 28th, and Alberta, 31st. I wish them all joyous days. July has been a useful, busy month. May the sun shine on all of you.

Community support

As Scoutmaster Pat Johnson was about to leave for the Provincial Jamboree last weekend, and his assistants and Scouts were loading the last minute items into the vehicles, he said, "You know, we couldn't do this without the community support we get."

That is so true, in many more cases than the Scout Jamboree. Look at Canada Day-without the support, in the form of donations from groups and corporate sponsors, and in the form of volunteer hours put in, there could never be such a huge celebration put on. The 1992 Fort George-Buckingham House Bicentennial is another, and even larger, undertaking, but with the ever-growing ring of community support, it too will be a roaring success.

Then, look at the huge projects

Elk Point is taking on, to which groups and corporations have pledged or donated funds: the Seniors Centre, now about to get underway, the three projects being simultaneously worked on by the Agricultural Society, and the Community Cultural Centre, which is still in the fundraising stage. If the Pioneer Circle, the Ag Society and the Building Society did not have the community behind them, they could never even attempt to take on projects of that magnitude. But then, if the community weren't behind them, they wouldn't need the facilities, because there would be no one to use them once they were complete.

While many other towns are slowly dwindling away, ours is planning for the future, and making sure the needs of tomorrow will be met-thanks to community support.

Billie Milholland

The lowly saskatoon, not as elegant as the blueberry, as delightful as the strawberry or popular as the raspberry, none-the-less provided half a continent of people with reliable summer fruit from times unrecorded, through the tumultuous fur trade and into the struggling time of settlement and depression.

Amelanchier alnifolia, called by some of the First Peoples - Mis-sask-qu-too-min has been renamed many times. It was known as Juneberry, Service Berry, Shadberry and Indian Pear. Whatever the name, Saskatoon still grow in profusion along rural roads, rivers and lakes on bushes that range from knee-high to giraffe-high.

Saskatoon were very popular as an addition to pemmican in the fur trade; they didn't have to be pounded to crush the pit like chokecherries and they were more plentiful and quicker to pick than strawberries or raspberries.

Dried, Saskatoons resemble currants and are excellent in muffins, cakes and pancakes. Freezing, of course is the easiest way to put some away for a winter treat. If they are spread out on cookie sheets until frozen, then put in big plastic bags, only the amount needed can be removed anytime. Jams, jellies, and syrups are always irresistible in the middle of winter.

The coopers at the Forts during the fur trade made big wooden barrels for storing dried saskatoons. Peter Fidler reported over 51 gallons of the berries in storage in November of 1801. His men were busy on November 19, 1801, cleaning and winnowing dried Saskutten (Saskatoon), twisting tobacco into 'carrots' for trade and packing and preserving 200 buffalo tongues. On March 29, 1802 Peter Fidler had 3 bags of pemmican made for himself, 2 made with 'Saskutten' berries with 8 gallons of berries per bag and each bag weighing 101 pounds.

Bicentennial special report

There is at least a week left for anyone with a pumpkin recipe to get it into the Bicentennial Great Pumpkin Cookbook. This cookbook, once of many fundraising efforts for the Bicentennial, is coming together very well. We have a wonderful variety of recipes ranging from 'ye olde pumpkin pie' to pumpkin donuts, pumpkin waffles and pumpkin noodles. There is still room for a few more recipes in this cookbook which should be out in the middle of August. The other cookbook project planned for a Bicentennial fundraiser is the Metis Cookbook ... Kokum's Kettle, 200 years of Metis Cooking. Some great recipes are coming in for this cookbook and we've got room for many more. Some of the best so far are Whitefish and Noodle Casserole, Cranberry Bannock and Partridge cooked in cabbage leaves.

Richard and Diane Smith of Rocky Mountain House, possibly the only people on the North American Continent who do historical dog sled re-enactments have expressed an interest in doing a historical mail delivery from Edmonton House to Buckingham House in February of 1992. It would be a journey of many days, requiring the mushers to tent along the way. This intrepid couple dresses in fur trade regalia, hitch their dogs in the frontier way and pull a sled made in the fur trade fashion. They break trail in the traditional way with their snowshoes.

I have contacted Canada Post, which will consider creating a special 'cache' for that occasion and give the Smith official mail carrier status for the run. The special cache is a hand stamp for cancelling the stamps on any mail carried by the Husky Express. This cache would be in the shape of our Bicentennial Logo and when all mail to be transported by the dog sled team is cancelled, the cache will then be sent back to Canada Post to be destroyed, making any letters received, collectors items. A unique opportunity for special gifts.

Correction

Our apologies to our readers for the error in the Historical Column, "Our Past," in the July 9 issue, which resulted from an addition to the story being put in the wrong place by our typesetter. The article should read as follows: "The C. A. Johnson store building was sold to Andy Miller in the late 1930s and was destroyed by fire on December 7, 1941" and not March 1, 1922 as quoted in that edition. Also, C. J. Markstad relocated to the Steve Wolanuk location after the March 1, 1922 fire. Sorry for this mixup. Steve Andrishak.

What's news at the library?

On July 11 at 2:00 p.m. ten children attended the "Wrinkles and Gang Workshop." They put on puppet shows and made a hand puppet. If you are five years to eleven years old, bring your imagination and join us for this creative hour of fun.

The Spring / Summer addition to the publication L. A. W.: Land Air Water Soil WATCH published in Lloydminster has arrived. Some of the articles featured are 'Dealing with Landmen,' 'What is a Surveyor's Right to Survey?' and 'Environmental Overview.' This small publication should be of interest to all area residents.

The preschool Summer Reading Program got underway July 5 at 10:00 a.m. After the storytime, we blasted off to Fantastar, the fantasy planet. We wanted to explore the planet, so we made astronaut helmets to wear. We then finished up with Musical Stars, a remake of the Musical Chairs game.

The discussion at last Tuesday's elementary program was about space travel. The children learned about life in a space shuttle and made a checklist of items that they wanted to take if going on a space trip. They then made their own FMT (Flying Meat Tray) space shuttles and had a flying contest.

NEW BOOKS

The Canadian Allergy and Asthma Handbook by Dr. Barry Zimmerman is an indispensable source book for anyone who has ever experienced the discomfort of allergies, asthma or other adverse reactions to drugs, vaccines, insect bites, foods, pets or the home or work environment.

Helping Your Child Succeed After Divorce Divorce is hard enough on the adults involved, but for children it can be devastating. Dr. Florence Bienenfeld shows her concern for divorcing parents, but her focus is always on the health of the children. She emphasizes practical ways for divorced parents to work together to do their best for their children.

From Blackfoot buffalo hunters to supermalls, from Crowfoot to Don Getty, from canoe brigades to railways to high-tech mass transit, Alberta: A New History by Howard Palmer explores how Alberta's past made it the fascinating and vital province it is today.

The Princess by Celia Brayfield - The best-selling author of Pearls takes you behind closed doors at Buckingham Palace for the fabulous, what-if novel of the year; the story of a real Prince Charming and his three great loves.

Jack and Leona Bretzer celebrate 25th anniversary

Jean Charlton

On Saturday, July 6 the family of Jack and Leona Bretzer held a surprise barbecue at Ross Lake in honor of their parents' 25th anniversary. Jack and Leona were married July 11, 1966 in Edmonton.

The head picnic table was decorated with a cake decorated by Katy Charchun and with wild flowers. Leona's corsage of wild roses and Jack's, of saskatoon, pin cherry and tiger lily, were created by Jean Charlton.

The happy couple were seated with their four children: Leonard, Stanley, Sandra and Travis. Vince Charchun did a great job as barbecue cook. Sandra, with the help of Jennifer, made the salad and squares.

Also attending were Leonard's wife Roxie and children Bradley and PJ, Sandra's husband Vince Charchun and children Tyler and Jessie, Jack's sister Brigitte and her son and daughter and family from Winnipeg, Man. and Humbolt, Sask., Leona's sisters Linda Bakewell, Josie and Scotty Laderoute and grandchild from Wainwright, Carol Reum and daughter Candice from

The Bretzers

Camrose, JoAnne and Bob Savage, Marc and Jennifer from Edmonton, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Charchun from Derwent, Doreen Berg, Lloydminster, Jean Charlton, Elk Point, and several other out of town friends.

In Memoriam

VINGE, Neva

In memory of our dear mother and grandmother, who left us July 5, 1990.

In our hearts your memory lingers Sweet, tender, fond and true, There is not a day, Mom That we do not think of you. We miss ya Ma.

Joyce, Mike, Tim, Danny and Lana

THANK YOU

My heartfelt thanks goes out to everyone who sent flowers, cards, for the visits at the hospital and at home, and for the many, many phone calls.

It's wonderful to have friends like you. Your kindness will always be remembered. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Joyce Nychporuk
